Verse

A

The sky was clear

D

the morn was fair.

A

Not a breath came over the sea.

E

When Mary left her highland

D

home and wandered forth with me.

E

Though flowers decked the mountain

A side and fragrance filled the veil.